HAMILTON, N. Y., Feb. 18.—
(INS)—James A. Farley believes that the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt during his third and fourth terms were responsible for "many of the ills that beset the world today".

The former pestmaster general, whose political genius was largely responsible for Roosevelt's election to office in 1932 and 1936, described the late president as "a worn leader" who, in his waning years, divided the world "in a series of concessions embodied in secret agreements."

CHINA NEEDS AID OR MAY COLLAPSE By ROBERT G. NIXON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. -President Truman asked Congress today for 570 million dollars in economic aid to China as a vital contribution to world peace.

The chief executive in special message declared the United States must help war-ravaged, strife-torn China as well as the needy nations of western Europe.

Mr. Truman asked prompt approval of the 570 million dollar China-aid program to extend through June 30, 1949.

The president warned that the Chinese national government, beset by inflation and civil war with the Communists after an eight-year battle with Japan, may collapse unless the United States extends aid.

Mr. Truman said:

"The United States has long recognized the importance of a stable Chinese nation to lasting peace in the Pacific and the entire world.

To give your clothes the best of care, send them to Smith's for cleansing and Revitalizing service.

That is why you are far more apt to get greater value by choosing a better equipped funeral home—and one where you get the personal services of a family organization.

You will find these greater values at the Boyd Home for Funerals. You also will find that the cost will be an amount that any family can afford.

If Representative Havenner of California reads the newspapers, he may discover in their columns some of the answers to a question he wanted to ask the Atomic Energy Commission the other day.

The California solou introduced a resolution in the House requesting the commission to report on "the feasibility and practicability" of producing heat from atomicpowered plants. He was participating in House discussion of the current fuel oil shortage.

At the same time Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, an expert in the field of atomic fission, was speaking in Atlantic City on the "possible practical uses of atomic energy for peaceful purposes."

Dr. Compton contended that if the same effort was spells of war applied to the development of penceful atomic power as was and is being devoted to atomic weapons, an atomic energy plant could be produced in an equally short time.

But he warned that it probably will be two years before there is an experimental power plant operating with atomic energy, and another two years after that before there will be a real test plant. Within 10 years, he predicted, there will be some practical application of atomic ond conflict, when the pocket batters were for neaceful purposes. power for peaceful purposes.

He added a remark that should be of interest to users of coal or oil-and to John L. Lewis, too. That was to the effect that atomic energy could not quite compete, on a practical economic basis, with coal where the latter was readily available, but "the two are not far out of

of the American economic system have reported an enthusiastic response from companies and organizations wishing to participate.

Larger concerns have long recognized the advantages in telling people the facts of business life. The reaction in this case indicates that this philosophy is being extended throughout the business community on an increasingly widespread basis.

And in view of attacks on the American way of life, there is room for such, a program, because the general public has been fed a woeful amount of misinformation in the last decade or two. How effective some of that has been is shown by a recent survey whose results are reported in the current issue of Modern Industry, a magazine published primarily for management men.

Fifty-seven per cent of the people queried believe that most companies can boost wages and at the same time hold prices right where they are. And four out of five of that 57 per cent believe that if industry ruises wages it will raise prices as well, even if it doesn't have to.

Yet the average teacher sup-wages it will raise prices as well, oven if it doesn't have to.

Those replies don't betoken a healthy condition. But there are answers. Is it fair to believe, for instance, that an industry expending nearly two-thirds of its income dollars for labor can raise wages without creating a swift ince and sizable swelling in its cost of doing business-and therefore in its price structure? And do most people really believe that the business interests of this country want to see the inflationary spiral keep spinning upwards-just because they want to see more dollars in the till-even if those dollars become worth less and less?

If a lot of our people really believe those things, it's time they got the other side of the story, in sufficient detail to judge for themselves. Their own social-economic system is on trial, and more depends upon the outcome than the figures in the weekly pay envelope, the quarterly dividend check, or the annual carnings statement.

The British government obviously is concerned. She considers herself legally entitled to these faraway islands and certainly she has enjoyed possession for decades. They have forward-looking governments which have kept the Islands out of debt. They are important as navel bases and fueling stations.

Unilateral scizure by either Argentina or Chile of such British dependences would be unprecedented and observers are curcous as to just how Britain can and will react. A British cruiser is on its way to the area from South Africa. But it would be weird to anticipate anything in the nature of a invalengement to settle the dispute.

The South American action is, however, an unprecedented challenge to British sovereignty.

To try to find some of the answers, I have talked with members of the commission, with utilitary men, with scientists, with members of Congress who serve on the joint committee on atomic energy, and with others. They agree for the most part on the following:

One can't but help thinking about spring on days like we have had this week. Many a seed and plant catalogue was dusted off last night and plans were started. It's always an interesting time of the year. sometimes the plans are so "hor" that someone just forgets that there will be some winter yet. WASHINGTON - Rep. Stefan, chairman of the House Appropriaa lot of foreign people who lobby for funds for their countries. Some of them are pretty much on the iron curtain side."

One can't but help thinking about spring on days like we have had this week . . . Many a seed and plant catalogue was dusted off last night and plans were started . . . It's always an interesting time of the year . . . sometimes the plans are so "hot" that someone just forgets that there will be some winter yet . . . Maybe not much and then maybe there will be plenty of deep snow . . . Of course it's too early to wish for sun and warm air in great abundance . . . No use wishing our fruit trees into ruin again this year. WASHINGTON - Sen. Bridges. chairman of the Senate Appropria-tions Committee:..."The State De-partment cost estimates for the Marshall plan faces a serious challenge in Congress.

Bible Thought

We would consider this past part of the winter as a time very "hard" on roads . . . the new road to Youngstown we notice has many little zookie humps . . . The road put down by the Duntile people to New Wilmington is in mighty fine shape and as yet none of the bothersome zookies have appeared . . . The back road to New Wilmington however has decided to make itself the grandpa consistency of the will now you to drive executionally careful especially on wet days. Thy God turneth the curse into blessing unto thee, because the Lord thy God loved thee.—Deut.

Jobs Upon A Time

This spring should be a gala time for the motorist ... for almost everyone likes to see the new motor cars ... and there will be something to see ... Hudson we feel has stolen a good part of the style show from Studebaker ... But now along comes the Oldsmobile ... Very different in a way ... really worthwhile in seeing ... Buick hasn't changed but still holds the eye when it comes to clean sturdy lines ... Beautiful colors adorn the Pontiac ... colors that make you want to stay young ... So far the Chrysler line hasn't been changed ... they still maintain a mighty powerful looking and operating machine ... DeSoto and Plymouth have beautiful straight lines ... Dodge, Chevie and Ford haven't done a lot on their pleasure cars but the truck lines have really taken a change. It is said that it's Ohio's first lady, Mrs. Thoma J. Herbert, was secretary to the governor's physician before her recent marriage. Film Actor Greg-ory Peck, one of the United States' top ten box office draws, gave up the study of medicine when he met but the truck lines have really taken a change . . . It is said that it's a girl with whom he fell in love, and took a job as oil truck driver. Rowing was his specialty in college, and that was when he took up acting as a career, first at the university, then on the New York stage, and finally to Hollywood.

Interviewing Military Mind By PAUL GALLICO

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—Noting the reappearance in uni-form of several old Army buddies, I asked a Pentagon Army officer what it all meant. He said that the Department of National Defense was quietly calling in reservists. Some are getting a 90-day refresher course and others are back in the service for an indefinite stay. The majority of the recalls are for specialists—administration officers, intelligence officers and communications officers mostly. Whenever the telligence officers and communications officers mostly. Whenever the services need a man who can't be found among the regulars, the authorities reach into the reserves. I asked the officer if the men were being ordered back. He said: "Not exactly ordered. They're just being told that they're needed. You know how it is."

Cites Eisenhower's Address

I said I knew how it was in wartime and he said: "Well, this isn't exactly wartime. But it's not exactly peace time either. I'm warting and he said: "Well, this isn't exactly wartime."

exactly wartime. But it's not exactly peace time either. I'm not authorized to make an official statement, but there's that farewell address which Gen. Eisenhower made before the National Press Club."

Gen. Eisenhower had said, on the record, that he knew of no country which was actually preparing to start a war. But he added that the state of the world was such that we night blunder into a war. There might be an "incident"

I asked the Pentagon officer if that explained the calling in of reservists. He said it did—in part. It also, he said, explained the military's desire for Universal Military Training—in part.

1 asked him to elaborate. He hesitated and I reminded him not to say anything he didn't want to see printed. I said I was looking for a column, that I was interested in knowing what military men were thinking these days. Finally he said:

Won't Get Off So Easily "Well, we're thinking that this country won't get off so easily in the next war. We're worrying about how the civilian population will stand up under a bombing. The British stood up, but we're not like the British. We have a mixed-up population. Lots of foreigners. Lots of people with alien ideas. That's a big reason behind our hope for UMT. We feel that even a few months in service will teach boys discipline. They'll know how to react to an emergency, help to control the civilian population."

I told him I didn't agree with him about the population's lack of guts. In the Civil War both sides were invaded and both sides fought back. The same would happen in another war.

He shook his head and said: "I doubt it. We're afraid the country won't stand up under punishment." The people will begin to holler. They'll demand that we make a deal with the enemy." Really War Measure
We came back to the subject of UMT. I told him I'd said in a column that it was a mistake to try to sell UMT as a peace measure when it was really a war measure.

"You're right," he said. "We chickened on that. We just didn't have the nerve to call it by its right name."

I said I thought the military mind often underestimated the good sense and maturity of the public. Why not just tell the public the truth about things? He shook his head and answered:

"You can't do that. For one thing, the public doesn't like to hear bad news. For another, if you tell the truth, the wrong sort of people hear it. They use it against you. The other day Forrestal (Secretary of Defense) suggested that it might be a good idea to go back to wartime censorship of news. All he wanted was to prevent military information from reaching the enemy. But right away people accused him of attacking the freedom of the press."

Asked About Common Assumption

I asked him about the common assumption that Russia would be unable to fight a major war for many years. He laughed and said:
"Drunkards can't afford to drink, but they always do. They may not pay the grocer but they buy whiskey."
I asked him about the chances of an incident. He then said a ery familiar thing: "It's better to fight Russia now than later on. I wish we could make people understand that.

We parted. I came away knowing that I'd been interviewing a military mind. It always has certain characteristics. It distrusts the people. It believes that war is inevitable. It is always expecting an "incident". It is even capable of provoking such an incident.

ALL FOR IT BUT TRUMAN

A committee of citizens selected by the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee to study federal taxation brings in a report recommending reduction of taxes, not only for the individual taxpayers, but for corporations. The essence of the report is contained in a statement that-

"Our promise has been that the Through which the names she tax system should be adjusted so It would have been a broken mass, tively and efficiently, so that men will be encouraged to work and produce, and so that business transactions will not be prevented by tax road blocks." Among the recommendations offered were community property returns (which prevail in California and some other states, but not in many others), reduction of sur-tax rates from a minimum of nineteen per cent to fifteen per cent on small incomes, with a fifty per cent maximum on large incomes, and the elimination of double taxation on corporation divi-dends. Emphasis is placed on lower taxes for smaller income groups.

Upset Victory Of Wallace Backed Candidate Surprise To Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 .- (INS) -Democratic leaders warned today that the upset victory in New York of a candidate backed by Henry Wallace should "wake up" their party if it expects to win the 1948 presidential election.

Sen. J. Howard McGrath of R. I. Sen. J. Howard McGrath of R. I.. Democratic national chairman declared that his party will "make a grave mistake if it does not learn a lesson" from the victory of Leo Isacson, American Labor party candidate for congress.

Former OPA Chief Chester Bowles declared that Isacson's triumph should "wake up the Democratic party" and encourage the Democrats to adopt "a new new deal".

deal".

The Democratic reaction to the New York special election came after followers of Wallace, who strongly supported Isacson, predicted that the third party presidential candidate will capture a million votes in New York next November on the basis of Isacson's showing.

Health Director Richard I. Davis today conferred with Howard Philips, superintendent of the collection and disposal of garbage, and designated next week as tin can collection week. Dates for collection of the tin cans by wards will be announced later.

One of the reasons for the collection is that some people have been placing tin cans and bottles in garbage cans, which upon some occasions, has resulted in lacerations for those who collect the garbage.

Auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. was turned into a beautiful land of Valentines on Saturday evening, when the eighth and ninth grade Y-Teens of George Washington "Valentine Sweater Hop."

Patty Bush was crowned Valentine Cueven and Bill Sakelson was crowned Valentine King. The crowning was done by Jean Loudon, president of the club and Lowry Campbell. Contests of various kinds were held and Charles Walker and Pat Weaver were the winners.

Great Britain In Dispute With Chile And Argentina Over Claims To Islands

Chile And Argentina Over
Claims To Islands
By J. H. LIVINGSTONE
(I.N. 8. Staff Correspondent)

SANTIAGO, Feb. 18.—Britain's dispute with Chile and Argentina over islands in the Antarctic region sharpened today after Chile (lately rejected a British suggestion to lake the nrgument before the international court.

In a strongly worded statement, the Chilean Ioreign ministry said: "Britain should request Chilean permission to remain on Chilean soit."

The Chilean government turned thumbs down on a Hague court settlement because "many countries are interested in the Antarctic and such action would be unilateral."

Preparing Sharp Reply
At the same time, it was learned in Buenos Aires, that Argentina is preparing a reply to British Minister of State Hector McNeil's statement in the House of Commons that Britain intends to back up her Falkland island claims.

McNeil yesterday said that "steps are being taken to ensure that the governor of the Falklands" islands 300 miles northeast of Capellorn. Britain regards them as hereterritory.

The current dispute actually involves islands in the south Shetland group, which are dependencies of the Falklands and are adjacent to the Antarctic archipelago. Yesterday the British cruiser Nigeria was dispatched from Simonstown, South Africa, presumably for the Falkland region.

The Argentine navy is carrying out maneuvers in the area, and Ciffean President Gabriel Gonzales Videla is now aboard a navy yexsel bound for Greenwich island in the south Shetlands.

It is believed Videla will claim part of the region for Chile.

In Burnos Aires, Admiral Fidel Anados, minister of marine, said that the presence of the Nigeria in south Atlantic waters would "not change Argentina's clear attitude regarding the Falklands and Antarctic issues".

Tarentum Passes Per Capita Tax

TARENTUM, Pa., Feb. 18.— (INS) — Tarentum's 4,000 citizens today were faced with a $3 per capita tax to help the horough meet increasing wage and salary costs in 1048. Borough councilmen said the new levy was passed at a meeting

Monday night to avoit an increase in property taxes, which will vermain the same as last year. The borough recently adopted a seven per cent amusement tax and installed parking meters to raise additional revenues.

The restoration of the prewar train ferry across the English chanel again makes it possible to travel between London and Paris by sleeping car without the trouble of transferring between trains and boats.

Seidel Announces For State Senate

Ellwood City Business Man To Seek Republican Nomination At Primary

Harold F. Seidel, well-known Eliwood City business man, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the Pennsylvania State Senate.

Mr. Seidel is a native of Ellwood City, attended the Ellwood City public schools and Geneva college. Following his collegiate days he entered business with his father and today operates the Seidel Coal and Building Supply company. With his wife, son and daughter he resides at 116 Fifth street. His statement of announcement follows.

"The post-war world has created problems in government which I believe can be solved only by the co-operation of all of us and the application of the best judgment we can muster. This is true of the state no less than the Federal government.

"The business of government in Pennsylvania is important business, a business in which over ten million of us are interested. The General Assembly is in effect the board of directors transacting the business for the people of the state. "I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for the State Senate. As a business man all my adult life I have had to deal with people in all walks of life.

I believe I know this 47th senatorial district well enough to serve the interests of all our citizens in the State Senate.

"I ask the support of Republi-can voters in both Beaver and Lawrence counties at the primary election to be held Tuesday, April

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 18—(INS)
The body of a man taken from the Ohio river at Aliquippa Saturday afternoon might be that of Charles Spyra, 29. of Glassport, a possible murder victim, Beaver county detectives reported Tuesday.

The tentative identification was made through a dry cleaner's mark on the man's trousers.

Spyra's brother, Chester, said he left home December 18 in search of work and was not heard from again.

County Detective Mike Kane reported an autopsy disclosed there was no water in the dead man's lungs, which could mean he was either dead or unconscious when he entered the water?

The upper half of the body was completely nude and there were cuts on the forehead and chin. as well as two upper front teeth miss-

Governor To Receive Report On Proposed Turnpike Program

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—(INS)

Gov. James H. Duff said today

—Gov. James H. Duff said today he expects to receive next month a comprehensive report on the proposed eastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

He said he would know within a month the location of the 100-mile eastward branch, the location of a bridge to carry it across the Susquehanna river from the present east terminus at Middlesex, Cumberland county, and a "probable date" when bids can be taken.

"This means that barring any un-

Believe Reserves Of Coal In U.S. Can Last For 250 Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(INS)—
American coal reserves are enough to last only 250 years, and not the 3,000 years often forecast, the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers was told Tuesday.

It is said nearly 50 per cent of natural gas used is cheaper than coal," he added. "This competition will result in abandonment of high cost mines, and further loss of coal reserves."

Governor To Receive Report On Proposed Turnpike Program

HARRISBURG, Fch. 18.—(INS)

—Gov. James H. Duff said today he expects to receive next month a comprehensive report on the proposed eastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turprike.

He said he would know within a month the location of the 100-mile eastward branch, the location of a bridge to carry it across the Susquehanna river from the present east terminus at Middlesex, Cumberland county, and a "prohable date" when hids can be taken.

"This means that barring any unforseen situations that work will proceed this year considerably shead of schedule," Duff assertid.

Meanwhile, the Turnpike commission said it expects to take bids by June for work on the proposed

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

WEST PITTSBURG BASEBALL CLUB will banquet Thursday ereming in Diaz hall, at West Plitsburg. They'll be in the County league this season. . One week from tonight Jeff Clanton will box Elkins Brothers in The Arena. . Clanton hopes to outpoint, and if possible, score a knockout to even up with Elkins the kayo artist.

Penn State's 1947 eastern 128-pound wrestling champion, Jim Mohney of Clearfield, may be lost to the Lions for the season because of a shoulder injary. . . West Plitsburg Rod and Gun club will banquet tonight.in Diaz hall Motion pictures of wild life will be displayed.

Lawrence County council of sportsmen will meet Friday night, according to President George Rolinger. Many coon and fox hunters with attend. . . Sir Reynard will be on the run Saturday, a fox hunt having been scheduled at 1 p. m. Hunters are to report to D. N. Reno at the Wamptum post office. Another fox hunt there will be held Monday at the same time. . . This is the time of year when Eagle Eye Raymond Stonghton of Hariansburg laps his mapic tives. . . One of the oddest bets ever recorded here took place some years ago in a South Jefferson street podroom. A man who was huckstering a wagon load of hannans but the horse, wagon and fruit during a 100-point pool game with Vic Poplar, who won, Jumbo Bullano and Tommy Leach witnessed the game. However, Poplar accepted money in Ileu of the bahanas, horse and wagon. . . Ray Gray, the ex-fighter, is an iron worker nowadays.
He was a rugged middleweight who once stopped George Nichols of East Liverpool. . . Blily Fessler, the painter, also is a cartoonist. . .
Frank Menke's Encylopedia of Sports, gives Philadelphia as the scene of Bob Fitssammons' last fight, which was with Dan Sweeney of New Castle. They fought at Williamsport, not the Quaker City.

John Bain (Jock) Cutherland, coach of the Pilisburgh Stelers.

or soo russimmons tast tight, which was with Lan Sweeney of New Castle. They fought at Williamsport, not the Quaker City.

John Bain (Joek) Cutherland, coach of the Pittsburgh Stelers, rates DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry the greatest footbail player ever developed in western Pernsylvania. . Tuss is a product of Shaton high school and did his collegiate cavorting at Westminster. Sutherland has ample reason to remember the present Dactmouth conch, because it was McLaughry who pierced the mighty Pitt line for two touchdowns when Jock was holding down at guard position on the Panther eleven. . McLaughry is the son of Mercer County's lide Judge J. A. McLaughry. He played semi-pro football in Youngstown after graduating at New Wilmington. He tutored the Titans for a while and then transferred to Amberst, went to Brown and is now the Big Green mentor. . . Met up with H. C. Druschel .78, several days ago, and interesting were stories be told of early New Castl. . Gus Lesnevich and Billy Fox go to it March 5. . . Harry Harper, state labor commissioner of New Jersey, who once hurled for the Yankes and Red Sox, hopes to land the Republican nomination for senator from that state. . . If the weather continues mild Sunday will be a pleasant day to like in the woods, and along streams, which will be stocked early in March . . No doubt some sucker fishermen have already tossed their lines in . . Judge O'Mealy of Detroit is 80 years old, and has been bowling alley, a four-lane installation. . . Local police have a nool table in their recention room, city building annex, but play only when off duty. . . So far as known W. S. Moore is the early marber of the Circus Fan Association here . . . In Reed Newell's tonsorial parlors are some interesting basebail pictures . . . Humbert Feazone, local barber, with the Annae at Clairton.

TODAY'S MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 .- (INS)-Further weakness in commodities today kept the stock market on an uneven keel, with most issues slightly lower at noon.

Stock exchange transactions in the first hour totaled 130,000 shares. Price changes were nar-

Grains opened weak—wheat being off as much as 5 cents a bushel
—but subsequent buying reduced declines. Cotton was depressed throughout the morning as were cocoa, hides and coffee futures.

There was no pronounced seiling in stocks but rather an absence of demand. Shares like a secret. Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, United Aircraft, and American Woolen were small fractions lower.

Light demand bolstered U. S. Steel, General Motors, Loews, International Harvester, Schenley. Texas Co. and Dome Mines. Bonds drifted without :rend. Curb shares were mixed.
